WELCOME MESSAGES

Datuk ChM Dr Soon Ting Kueh

President

Institut Kimia Malaysia

On behalf of Institut Kimia Malaysia (IKM), it is my distinct honour to welcome you to LabAsia 2025 – a premier gathering for the laboratory and analytical sciences community in Malaysia and across the region.

This year is especially significant as we host the 50th World Chemistry Congress and the 53rd IUPAC General Assembly, organised by the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry (IUPAC). Bringing these prestigious events to Malaysia highlights our nation's commitment to scientific research and chemical innovation.

Under the theme “Chemistry for a Sustainable Future,” the Congress will explore how chemistry can address pressing challenges, including climate change, clean energy, healthcare, and food security. This platform will unite eminent scientists, researchers, and industry pioneers from around the globe, fostering collaboration and driving the translation of scientific breakthroughs into impactful solutions.

LabAsia complements these efforts by bridging cutting-edge research with practical applications, showcasing innovations, and strengthening partnerships. This synergy presents a unique opportunity to see how theoretical advances can lead to real-world impact.

I encourage all participants – scientists, academics, industry leaders, and students – to fully embrace this unique convergence. Engage actively, forge meaningful connections, and contribute to the collaborative spirit that drives scientific progress.

Thank you for joining this remarkable chapter in Malaysian science. Together, we advance chemistry's vital role in building a sustainable future.

Analytical Instrument and Services

Centralised Analytical Laboratory (CAL) is one of the services centres under the Laboratory Management Department (LMG) of Universiti Teknologi PETRONAS. It is equipped with the state-of-the-art analytical instrument and provides analytical services to researchers and industries from various organisation.

Unveiling Elemental Composition with Inductively Coupled Plasma Optical Emission Spectrometry (ICP-OES) 	FUNCTION ICP-OES, available at CAL, is a sophisticated analytical technique utilized for the determination of elemental composition within samples. The core of elemental analysis is inductively coupled plasma (ICP) technology, which ionizes samples, creating a high-temperature plasma. This plasma excites the atoms, causing them to emit light at characteristic wavelengths unique to each element. Through precise detection of emitted radiation, ICP-OES provides quantitative analysis with the elemental composition of diverse samples. Agilent's ICP-OES technology has advanced technology to deliver accurate and comprehensive elemental analysis, supporting a wide range of research and industrial applications with unmatched precision.	APPLICATION 1. Semiconductor manufacturing 2. Petrochemicals 3. Oils and greases SAMPLE REQUIRED 1. Clean liquid
Comprehensive Natural Gas Analysis with Natural Gas Analyser (NGA) 	FUNCTION The Natural Gas Analyser (NGA) available at CAL offers precise determination of the chemical composition of natural gas samples. Utilizing advanced gas chromatography (GC) technology, the NGA separates and identifies individual components within a gas mixture. The GC column separates the components based on their volatility, and the detector measures the concentration of each component. The NGA provides comprehensive analysis of natural gas samples, ensuring accurate and reliable results.	APPLICATION 1. Natural Gas SAMPLE REQUIRED 1. Gas
